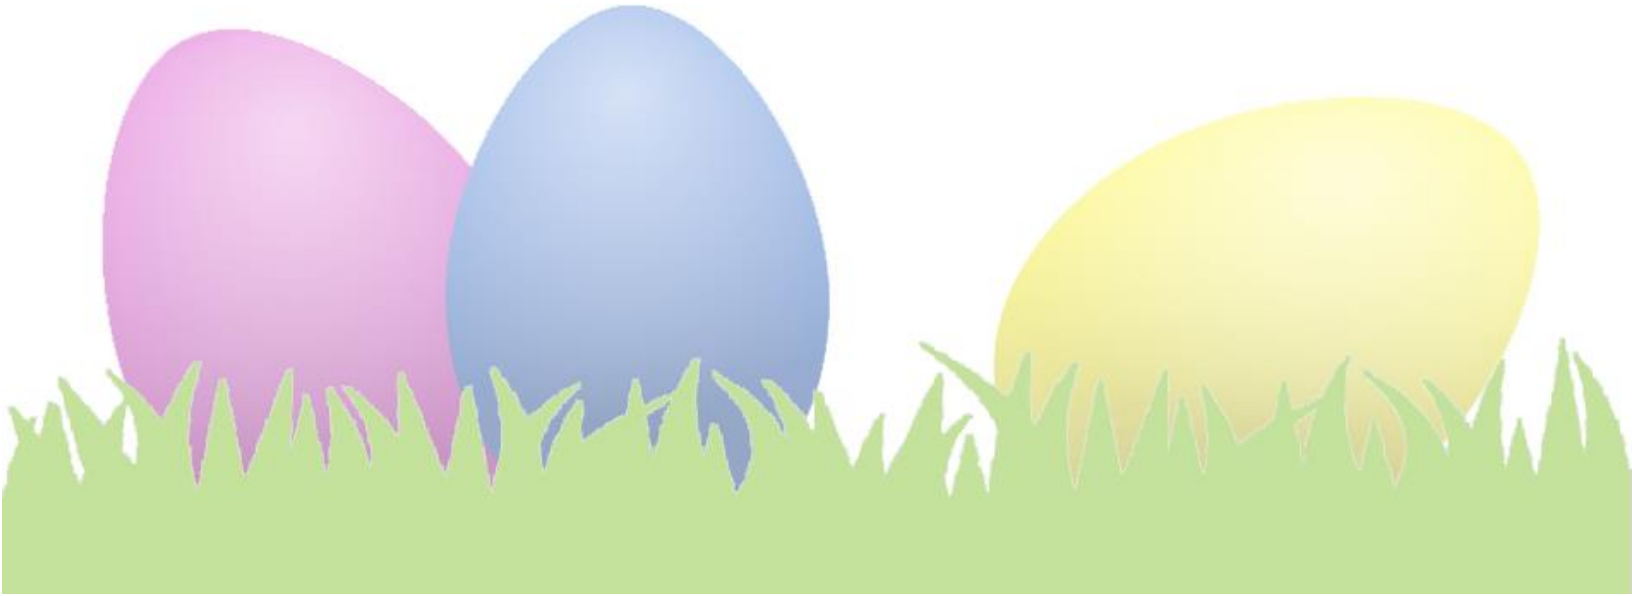
Extraordinary Easter

Easter is a magical celebration of how new things can come from places you don't expect. The things people see as part of the Easter celebration help us remember that we can always start over, no matter how hard things might seem, and that spreading happiness makes the world a more cheerful place.

Easter is extraordinary because:

> The Easter bunny lays eggs, something real bunnies can't do. He shows us how fun it can be to use our imagination. He also helps spread cheer and lets us believe impossible things can happen.
>
> Eggs keep babies safe until they are ready to be born. By decorating eggs and sharing them with friends or family, we are spreading the happiness people feel when a baby is born.
>
> Candy is a special treat that makes people happy. We give candy to people we love so they can feel joy.
>
> Spring is when we celebrate Easter because it is the season when many plants start to grow again, flowers bloom, and baby animals are born. The world looks like it is waking up again during spring and this makes people feel good.


So, don't just be excited about getting candy and coloring eggs this Easter. Be happy celebrating a fun holiday and help others feel happy about life too.
