

Reversible No-Sew Fleece Poncho

Things You'll Need

- One yard of fleece fabric
- One yard of complementary fleece fabric
- One and a half yards of one-inch wide ribbon
- Sharp scissors
- Pins
- Ruler or tape measure

What to Do

1. Enlarge the pattern and print it out.
2. Fold one piece of fleece fabric into quarters. Place the pattern on the folded fabric and cut through all four layers to create the squared bottom hem and rounded neckline. Don't forget to cut the slots around the neckline as well.
3. Repeat with the other piece of fleece fabric.
4. Spread out both pieces and stack them together. Pin all around the edges to ensure the fabrics stay in place.
5. Make 1.5-inch deep cuts every one inch around the entire poncho hem to create a fringe.
6. Starting at one corner, take a piece of fringe from each color of fleece and tie them together. Continue all the way around the bottom hem until the entire poncho has a knotted fringe. Remove all the pins.
7. Use the ribbon to weave up and down through the slots you made near the neck hole. Tie the ribbon ends in a bow.

Pattern on the next page.

Fleece Poncho (enlarge by 3)

← 8.5 inches (enlarge to 25.5 inches) →

---

↑
↑
Folded Edge

Cut 2

↓
↓
Folded Edge

