

No-Sew Looped Hem Fleece Baby Blanket

Things You'll Need

- One yard of fleece fabric
- Sharp scissors
- Masking tape

What to Do

- Print out the pattern and enlarge.
- Fold the fleece fabric in half and cut it according to the pattern.
- Place a piece of masking tape the length of each side, creating a straight line two inches from the edge. You'll use this as a guide for cutting the fringe.
- Make a cut every one inch from the outside edge until you reach the masking tape. You'll be creating a fringe where each piece is two inches long and one inch wide. Continue until you've gone all the way around the blanket. Remove the masking tape.
- Fold one piece of fringe back on itself and make a vertical slit that is about  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch long. Repeat with each piece of fringe.
- Starting at one corner, poke a piece of fringe through the slot on the adjacent piece, bending the adjacent piece over as you go. Poke that piece through the next piece, continuing around the corners.
- When you reach the place you started, cut the fringe in half lengthwise and poke one piece through the last remaining hole. Tie it into a knot with the other piece and trim the ends.

Pattern on the next page.

↑
↑
Folded Edge

Baby Blanket
Enlarge by 4
Cut 1

2 inches
x
2 inches

2 inches
x
2 inches